With the fertility of the soil being fast depleted, and with generations to come to live from the products of this same soil, we must continue to study our soils and new methods of increasing the fertility of these soils. That this be done is of vast importance to the nation as well as to the individual, since all life of man and beast must look to the soil for its sustenance.

INFLUENCE OF MOON ON AGRICULTURE.

stock raising or weaning babies. This superstition about the moon is not entirely a harmless thing, as it causes a good deal financial loss on the whole. People miss a good opportunity to get a crop planted or other work done while waiting for the moon to get right, and they get a poorer yield or get less work done.

HAYDENBURG R. 1.

CITIZENS GIVE VIEWS ON STOCK LAW.

The farmer that has his farm fenced, and is against the stock law, should, and will have his fence ridden down by stock running at large. Then, after it is too late, he will wish for the stock law.

One who favors such law.

If the present stock law is not legal, why didn't Mr. Overton amend it, before bringing it before the people again? It has been tested by the people twice, in the last few years. Once by a petition, and once when there were three candidates for Representative, two of them for a no fence law and one against it, one of the two for it was elected.

A Citizen.

If the stock law fails, many farms will have to be fenced before a crop can be made, and the cost will be so great that the owner cannot make anything from his crop. I cant understand why any one should be opposed to the stock law.

A farmer.

If the stock law fails, a large number of farms will of course, have to be fenced, and the poor old farmers will have to shell down $15.50 per bail for 39 in. wire.

A merchant.

If you have more stock than you have pasture for--do you think your stock should graze on some other man's premises.

Citizen.

If you are a merchant, blacksmith, or have other vocation than farming, would you not rather pay five cents a day for pasturage on your cow than to spend the time each evening going over the community hunting her up?

A voter.

Is it more trouble to the trader that drives his stock along the highways, and occasionally has to keep them from getting into a field that is not fenced, than it would be to have the stock he is driving constantly mixing with those running at large and having to separate them? I have found the latter to be much more trouble than than the former.

A trader.

For Sale

We will have a car load of extra good, coming 3-year old mules at Gainesboro for sale Monday and Tuesday, February 24 and 25.

These mules are the good rangy, heavy kind, good foot and bone, with good head and ears. Will make mules when fully developed in the 1100 or 1200 pound class. Some of them are around that mark now. Will stand from 15 to 16 hands high. We have taken great pains in buying these mules, looking all the time for mules that would make a crop this year and at the same time grow money, so if you want some sure enough good mules come and see them and get you a pair. All of them are kind and gentle and easily handled, and all well mated. Don't forget the date.

'Chain' Tread

The Economy of Buying Good Tires

It's mighty poor economy to put cheap tires on your car.

If you can't depend on your tires, you can't depend on your car,

—and you can't get the high grade of service it ought to give you.

It pays to buy good tires—United States Tires.

They represent the highest value it is possible to build into tires.

There are five different passenger car treads—the only complete line built by any tire manufacturer.

Each has the built-in strength that means your money back in extra miles.

Among them are exactly the tires you want for your car, and your driving conditions.

Our nearest Sales and Service Depot Dealer will gladly help you.
